BUILD EXPO ALEPPO

BUILDEXPO ALEPPO brings together the most influential companies shaping the future of construction technologies and building materials in Syria and across the world.

The exhibition attracts leading international consultancy firms, key government ministries, major buyers of construction materials, as well as prominent delegations from engineers' and contractors' unions representing all Syrian governorates and neighboring countries. As a high-level business platform, BUILDEXPO ALEPPO stands as one of the most significant annual events dedicated to the construction and real estate development sectors in Syria and the wider region.

Syria is entering a new period of opportunity, with Aleppo standing out as one of the country's most promising cities for development, investment, and reconstruction. With its deep commercial heritage, strategic location, and growing demand for modern infrastructure, Aleppo offers significant potential for companies looking to take part in Syria's future. BUILDEXPO ALEPPO brings together industry professionals, decision-makers, and leading brands in a dynamic environment where new projects, partnerships, and business opportunities can take shape.
